

AURORA, CO. Small business owners now have access to convenient and flexible term loans and lines-of-credit through Aurora Federal Credit Union. The Aurora-based credit union has partnered with Centennial Lending to offer a variety of commercial lending alternatives for real estate, vehicles, equipment, and general operational needs. “We saw a need in our community to help small business owners,” said Member Service Manager Curtis Gardner, “and we’re pleased to offer options that can be tailored to fit the needs of their business.”

Small business owners can contact Curtis Gardner at 303-755-2572 to discuss their loan options. Information is also available through the Aurora Small Business Development office, located on the second floor of the Aurora Municipal Building.

Aurora Federal Credit Union is a $70 million credit union chartered in 1968, located at 6 Abilene Street in Aurora, 80011. More information can be found at www.auroracu.com.
